COLLEGE DAY & MASTER CLASS

Saturday, January 19, 2013

*1:30 – 5:00 PM

RICE MUSIC HOUSE - THE VILLAGE AT SANDHILL
COLUMBIA, SC

Columbia Music Teachers Association will host its annual College Day & Master Class on Saturday, January 19, 2013 from 10:00 AM to 1:30 PM at the Community Room at The Village at Sandhill, sponsored by Rice Music House. Faculty from Furman University and SC Governor's School for the Arts and Humanities will serve as master class artists and answer questions about their respective schools and music programs. The event is free and open to the public.

Although the purpose of College Day is to introduce students who wish to continue their music studies at the collegiate level to the stellar faculties and colleges in South Carolina, CMTA has elected this year to include the SC Governor's School. This experience will familiarize students with musical and educational opportunities in our state at the collegiate and high school level and assist them in their selection of institutions to further their music education.

Dr. David Gross, Professor of Piano and Dr. Tamara Matthews, Professor of Voice from Furman University along with Dr. Stephen Taylor, Professor of Piano and Tom Dickinson, Professor of Voice from SC Governor's School for Arts and Humanities, will conduct master classes with selected students from the Columbia area. Students who wish to perform for the Master Class should be presently enrolled in high school.

Applications and a $15 registration fee paid by cash or a check to CMTA College Day should be submitted by December 5, 2012. Repertoire must be memorized and performance ready. Please note that due to time constraints, repertoire should not exceed five minutes. Repertoire that exceeds five minutes will not be heard in its entirety. Voice participants must provide their own accompanists. Applicants will be informed of their participation status by December 15.
